Movies Offer Unusual Study Possibilities

Power and magic of the modern film will be revealed in a motion picture appreciation course at El Camino College during the semester just beginning. Registration for the tuition-free class will remain open until February 16.

Great motion pictures of past and recent periods will be shown and analyzed during the semester, in an evening class which will meet weekly.

The course is open to all on an auditing basis and will give three units of college credits to regular students who have previously completed the first semester of college English.

Most popular hours for the class will be determined and set at the opening meeting next Tuesday evening, 7:30, on the El Camino campus.

Among major motion pictures scheduled to be shown completely or in part during the course, Instructor H. Arthur Klein announces the following: "Birth of a Nation," "Greed," "Sunrise," "The Great Train Robbery," "The New York Hat," "A Fool There Was," "The Last Command."

Also scheduled are the modern feature films: "The Men," "Champion," "Home of the Brave," and the significant art films "Van Gogh," "Rembrandt," among many others.

Bixby Plunge May Be Built Despite Ban

Possibility that the long-awaited Bixby Slough swimming pool and bathhouse adjacent to Harbor Trench may be constructed despite the government's ban on building of recreation structures was cited today by city recreation officials.

Under a relaxation of the original directive, the National Production Authority will allow recreation structures which further the defense effort and are "essential to public health, safety, or welfare."

The original order halted Recreation and Park Department projects planned under provisions of the 1947 playground bond issue scheduled to cost about $2,015,000.

The pool and bathhouse project is still in the planning stage, officials stated.

Harvey Machine Building New $200,000 Shop

Completion of the $200,000 shop addition to the Harvey Machine and Aluminum Company's Torrance plant is expected sometime in July or early August, Lawrence A. Harvey, executive vice-president of the company told the Herald this week.

Construction of the 140x500 foot building is being handled by Myers Brothers contractors.

Harvey said yesterday that the new building was nothing special for war production, but was a normal expansion of warehouse and shop space for the screw machine works, one of the company's regular lines of products.

"The expansion of our plant here is increasing our need for skilled screw machine operators and set-up personnel," the company executive said. He indicated that the need for skilled personnel was very real at the plant.

George J. Fosdyke, structural engineer of Los Angeles designed the concrete building.

Girl Triumphs At Riding Show

Terry Brooks, pretty Long Beach equestrienne, won high point honors Sunday at the Lomita Hills Saddle Club's monthly gymkhana after a nip and tuck battle with runner-up Harold Gray.

Final point standings showed Terry leading, 24-21, over the Redondo Beach horseman.

Trophies also went to Billy Pellam of Lomita in the stock horse class and to Gray in the flag race. The two trophy events did not count in determining the high-point totals.

Young Tony Gonzales was awarded the Jiggs Miller trophy for winning a special Shetland pony race open to youngsters 12 and under. His brother, John Gonzales, placed second.

Terry also won another honor in being chosen the "typical cowgirl" of the event. "Typical cowboy" was Carroll Auffil of Walteria.

The gymkhana are held the first Sunday of each month at the club arena, 24300 Walnut street, in Lomita.
